

NuVox Subpoena Policy

General

NuVox's Privacy Policy provides that we will not release account information or information sufficient to identify a subscriber except under certain specific circumstances. This Privacy Policy can be found here <http://www.nuvox.com/Legal/privacyPolicy.htm>.

The Stored Communications Act ("Act") prohibits NuVox from releasing the content of email communications or email heading information. Thus, it is NuVox's policy, consistent with the Act, not to release any email communications or email heading information in response to a civil subpoena, including a subpoena from a government entity in a civil proceeding.

If you seek account information or information sufficient to identify a subscriber in connection with a civil or criminal matter or email content/heading information in a criminal proceeding, you must serve NuVox with a valid subpoena at the address or facsimile number below and agree to compensate NuVox for our subpoena response services according to the terms. NuVox reserves the right, but is not required, to refuse any civil subpoena request for information due to countervailing privacy concerns, such as requests for credit card or bank information.
