

NetPlus

For special applications, NetPlus provides your business with the safety and security of unbundled network loops delivered directly from your local central office. These lines may be used for alarm circuits, elevator, fax or modem lines, and for redundancy purposes.

Advantages

- Redundancy and Security: If you have all your services on a single T1, order NetPlus Lines just in case the T1 service is interrupted by a power failure. This will ensure that you have a means to continue to have communications services.
- Flexibility: Copper lines are also a great service for a remote location such as a guard station, lobby, ATM, or telephone closet.
